

WHO WE ARE

Allerweltshaus (House of the World) exists since 1987. Founded as a private initiative, it has been working as a Cologne Ehrenfeld based non-profit organization and an independent center for intercultural education and cross cultural relations. Allerweltshaus is a meeting point where people of different nationalities and cultural backgrounds are able to come together, exchange ideas and celebrate. Since 1987 Allerweltshaus in Cologne Ehrenfeld is an independent center for intercultural education and cross cultural relations.

WHAT WE STAND FOR

Allerweltshaus is ideologically and politically independent. The principle of our actions is our contribution for a collaborative coexistence of people of different nationalities and social backgrounds, our contribution against the growing gap between wealth and poverty here and around the world, our contribution against the use of military power as a way for resolving conflicts and the increasingly faster exploitation of natural resources. Based upon this principle we work together with all people and organizations that are interested.

WHAT WE OFFER

A community center lives from its visitors. Therefore, we see ourselves as an open house and offer spaces and infrastructure: to enable solidarity and cooperation at eye level, to facilitate self-organization and self-help, to organize forms of resistance and other alternatives, to get to know each other and of course to laugh and celebrate together.

More than 20 groups, collectives and organizations of immigrants use the Allerweltshaus as their central meeting point. We organize open courses and provide advice and social counseling for people of all nationalities and make our rooms available for art exhibitions, film evenings and other events.

OUR PROJECTS

In addition to the services available for groups and individuals, we also run our own projects, among others are:

The event series "African Voices" presents authors and their books

The project "Remember and Act for Human Rights" educates in political participation

The radio project "alleweltonair" broadcasts a radio show on topics from all around the world

"Global Learning for Children" offers courses and workshops

...and more

OUR NETWORK

We are a long standing member of the German Joint Welfare Association (Deutschen Paritätischen Wohlfahrtsverband) and the One World Network in North Rhine Westphalia (Eine-Welt-Netz NRW). We founded the platform "Cologne Global" and work together with the working group for intercultural centers of the city of Cologne; furthermore we are always in contact with projects and social movements at local, national and international level.

OUR FINANCING

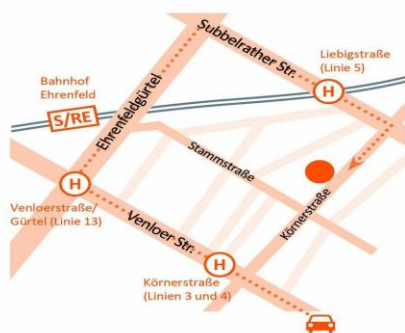

Many activities in Allerweltshaus are performed by volunteers. The amount of work and expected professionalism demand also for full-time or part-time employees, otherwise it would not be possible to run the day-to-day operations. For us it is extremely important to remain financially independent and still be able to find sources of financial support. To ensure this, donations, contributions and membership fees from users and supporters are an important pillar of our work in addition to the many volunteers that kindly donate their work in the name of solidarity and togetherness in Allerweltshaus.
